"God has found me worthy to be a minister of His Gospel, and so when I speak, I strive to please God and not men."

1 Thessalonians 2:4

+ Dear Friends,

Today's Gospel is, without a doubt, one of the most challenging for American Catholics to hear. We live in a society in which the buildup of wealth and material possessions is constantly drummed into us. It's as though these things are the ULTIMATE value. This is remarkably similar to the man in today's Gospel who tears down his perfectly good grain barns in order to build even larger ones....only to lose his life suddenly.

The challenge, of course, is to figure out how to use our God-given resources and blessings in ways that balance the need to ensure we will have what we truly need to survive AND the Gospel mandate to live life dedicated to the faith we say we have. It's a delicate balance my friends. There is absolutely nothing wrong with owning things, having money in the bank, providing for one's future. There IS, however something wrong when these things become THE number one priority in a person's life with little or no thought given to the fact that this life is NOT the end of the line! There IS an eternal life awaiting us; either for good or for bad. It's up to us.

That is the ultimate message of the mysteriously named Qoheleth in our first reading. On first reading the Book of Ecclesiastes, one came away with the assumption that there is no purpose to our lives and so just live the way you want to live whether moral or immoral. However, the true message of the Book is the same as the one in today's Gospel: be rich in the matters of God, not man.

On another topic, related to the Liturgy, because of the importance of the Mass in our lives as Catholics, we have an established Dress Code in keeping with the dignity of the Mass and the ministry of service at the altar. It is good for us to be reminded of it once in awhile. For both Readers and Extra-Ordinary Ministers, the following is established practice: proper attire to be worn for all service. NOT appropriate are the following: flip-flops, shorts, short skirts, plunging necklines, blue jeans, tennis shoes or tank tops. As I pointed out to all present, the dignity of the Sacrament of the Altar, the worship of Christ and the service at His altar, all call for dignity in dress and deportment. What we wear on the outside mirrors our interior disposition and attitude. Everyone agreed. It is also a good idea for our Ministers of Hospitality to be conscious of the fact that THEY are the first people folks meet in visiting our parish. I thank YOU ALL for your conscientious and dedicated service to our parish!

Next weekend, our parish will be blessed to welcome Fr. Dennis Robinson, OSB, the President-Rector of St. Meinrad Seminary. Fr. Dennis will be sharing the work and ministry of forming future priests, particularly those of our own Archdiocese. Please make him feel at home here at St. Mary, Queen of Peace!

Have a blessed week everyone!

Father Mike

It is time to register for Religious Education classes for the coming school year. Packets will be available in the narthex after all the Masses. They may be returned the same day, or in the Religious Education office during the week. Registrations received in August will remain the same cost as previous years; those received in September will be charged an additional $15 late fee. Classes will begin on September 11.

If you love your faith and want to share it, here is a perfect opportunity. The parish is looking for catechists to teach religious education classes beginning in September. Openings exist in the kindergarten, fourth, and fifth grade classes, and we are looking for people to lead special subject classes as well. Please contact Matthew Fallon for more information about this opportunity to serve.
