1 Thessalonians 2:4

+Dear Friends,

This weekend I am very happy to welcome my very good friend, Fr. Jim Koressel of the Evansville Diocese, to our parish! Fr. Jim will be leading us through our 2020 Lenten Parish Mission. No doubt you received a flyer in the mail with all the information concerning the Mission; times of events, confessions, etc. Welcome, Father Jim!

Today's first reading on this First Sunday of Lent, describes the moment when our first parents gave in to temptation by eating of the fruit of the tree that God had forbidden.

In stark contrast the Gospel relates the story of the Lord Jesus Who, weak, tired and hungry from fasting in the desert for forty days and forty nights, resisted the temptations posed by Satan.

The second reading presents us with a theological reflection on these two events, reminding us that through Christ's obedience we have been made for righteousness. As Lent now unfolds before us, let us ask for the strength to be more and more like Jesus, making the refrain of today's responsorial psalm our own throughout this holy and sacred season: "Be merciful, O Lord, for we have sinned." In fact, make it even more personal by praying: "...for I have sinned." One resource for Lent asked a pertinent question for today: What sinful attitude or behaviors do I wish to be freed from during this Lenten Season?

Lent affords us the opportunity to explore the mystery of how sin and death entered the world because of disobedience, and how that disobedience is "undone" by the obedience of Jesus Christ. We are asked to apply both the disobedience of Adam and Eve and the obedience of Jesus to our own personal lives. In other words, where am I "disobedient" and where am I "obedient?" It's very personal and answerable only by ourselves. We've got forty days to ponder. I wonder if we will?

What a wonderful treasure is our Catholic Faith! Let us share it! God bless you all!
