1 Thessalonians 2:4

+Dear Friends,

Today's readings offer us words of consolation and words of warning. (Funny how they often do that isn't it?) The first reading draws our attention to the person of Holy Wisdom, whose presence can free us from the worries and anxieties of this passing world. Not by magic but by faith are we to live. St. Paul's beautiful words to the Church in Thessalonica are a comfort for those who recently lost a loved one. In this month of November in which we especially remember and pray for our deceased loved ones, his words strike a deep chord within our hearts.

As Ordinary Time begins to wind down, we always start to hear about the "end times." We are warned to "stay awake," to be prepared for the coming of the Lord. These scriptural words of warning, which always resound at the end of the Church year, remind us we are to live our lives in preparation for the life that is to come. This time of November always speaks of endings as well as new beginnings. It's a time to pray for what has passed, in the person of our loved ones. It is also a time to prepare, once more, to celebrate a new beginning of graced opportunity in the coming season of Advent and to mark once more, the coming of Jesus Christ!

The responsorial psalm said it all today: "My soul is thirsting for You, O Lord my God." Let's make that our prayer as we journey through these days of November and prepare our hearts during the coming Advent season to welcome the Lord once more!

This weekend, the nation celebrates Veterans' Day! It's a great day to thank our veterans for their service to our country and the perfect day to offer Mass for the vets, their intentions and for those who lost their lives in service to our freedoms. Having a Dad who served as a B-17 pilot during WW II, and of course celebrating a birthday that day, Veterans' Day has always been a very special day for me. Of course back in the good ole days, going to a Catholic school, we never had school on Veterans' Day either! We join together in prayer to mark this very special occasion!

And, remember to thank a vet!!

Father Michael Leticia

THANK YOU, VETERANS!
